

Rory B. Collins
Chief of Police

SALISBURY POLICE DEPARTMENT

An Internationally Accredited Law Enforcement Agency

Press Release

The Salisbury Police Department is proud to announce that several of its officers have recently been awarded the “Advanced Law Enforcement Certificate”. This is the highest Law Enforcement certification offered by the North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission. This prestigious award is offered to professional Law Enforcement Officers across the state and is based on a culmination of years of experience, level of formal education, as well as specialized law enforcement training. This achievement is not an easy one to attain and is a reflection of the commitment to excellence by these officers.

Enabling and assisting with the professional development of our officers is a high priority for the Salisbury Police Department and I am very excited to see each of these officers receive this high honor. Each brings a great deal of experience, knowledge and skill to their position which enables them to be successful in protecting our community. I am confident that the citizens of our community will continue to benefit from the efforts and professionalism of these well-deserving officers.

Those officers receiving the Advanced Law Enforcement Certificate are:

Lieutenant Jeffrey Wilkerson, Patrol Team Commander
Lieutenant Jason Robertson, Patrol Team Commander
Lieutenant Todd Sides, Criminal Investigations Commander
Sergeant Adam Bouk, Patrol Team supervisor
Detective Aaron Safrit, Criminal Investigator

Rory B. Collins
Chief of Police